

Letter from the 2009 KHHRA President

For the last 32 years the Kansas Hospital Human Resource Association (KHHRA) has been a leader in Human Resource excellence. It has been recognized at the highest level by the American Society for Healthcare Human Resource Administrators. In addition, our affiliation with the Kansas Hospital Association is strong and as such we are often called upon for our professional expertise. KHHRA has approximately 100 engaged professionals dedicated to the pursuit of professional Human Resource excellence.

KHHRA has a dynamic and powerful learning vision. It consists of peer mentoring, direction and counsel from an experienced Board of Directors, plus a focus on cultivating outstanding educational speakers that provide relevant learning opportunities. Our imagination is fueled by the synergy of our combined professional expertise.

Six District Directors through out the State of Kansas help personalize and streamline our association at the local level. These Directors define and address, as appropriate, the district's issues.

We are frequently reminded by our daily activities that we must be ready for an ever-changing and increasingly competitive work force and to always stand ready to contribute professionally to our hospital and community. This is how we expect to make a real difference in the healthcare world. It is my pleasure to serve as the 2009 KHHRA president. I pledge to help lead our efforts to promote high standards of professional ethics, education, and effectiveness in the area of Human Resource Management.

Bob Brazil
